Teacher: Jonathan Torrence

What's something that struck you from Jon's message last Sunday? Aside from his obvious passion for music (and talent!), the following two things stuck out to me:

- 1) The intentionality that goes into selecting the songs we sing at our gathering.
- 2) The reminder that we all need every day- we are always worshiping something; our heart determines who or what that is!

Jesus gives us the ultimate example of worship. His whole life was a sweet fragrance to his Father! He was utterly dependent on His Father, constantly staying in tune with his Father's will and relying on his Father's strengthening grace to die to his own will. Honesty, emotion, vulnerability, purity, innocence, and devotion... all of these things we addressed on Sunday can be found all over the Gospels. Oh, how sweet it would be to have a record of every single prayer Jesus prayed to his Father! To see how greatly he relied on him on a moment by moment basis.

Keep pressing on and depending on God and his grace will do the rest!
